DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Caddock (US Pat. 3,636,493) in view of Lee et al. (US Pat. 6,194,990) or Baiatu et al. (US Pat. 6,166,619).

Caddock discloses, except the respective first and second terminals connected, the claimed invention at Figs. 9 and 13, with resistor elements 41 having a shape substantially as a circular ring. The terminals 72, 73 are on either side of a slit as seen at Fig. 8. Lee et al. and Baiatu et al. disclose connecting stacked elements each at Fig. 1, for the purpose of canceling the inductive fields by having current flow in opposite directions through adjacent elements so that it would have been obvious to employ such a connection where the Caddock stack is disclosed for use in a computer and it would have been desirable to eliminate inductive fields. See the abstracts of Lee et al. and Baiatu et al. See also Figs. 1 and 2 of Lee, where the different resistor shapes are stacked and connected as claimed, suggesting a serial stacking in the device of Caddock, since those are stacked. For claim 13 the shims are 56.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 3-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

In claim 3, there is no suggestion for the shims having the plurality of radically extending channels so that radically extending flow paths for a cooling medium is formed as claimed in the combination. Caddock discloses radically extending channels 61 in shim 56, but these are not flow paths for a cooling medium since the housing 58 is formed in the channels blocking any flow of a cooling medium. Claims 4-10 depend on claim 3.
